today we know much about the sky how stars are born how they live and die and how the universe as a whole evolves we have learned of the existence of another type of matter indifferent to light and yet decisive for the formation of galaxies and we have a hint of a dark energy that since the last 4 5 billion years has taken over the control of the cosmos we postulated and then discovered and even photographed black holes and listened to the faint rustle of the space time ripple produced when these monsters devour each other we reached these astonishing results recognized by a bunch of nobel prizes and filling every day the media with wonders for the eyes and the mind by the marriage of physics and astronomy that unified the earth with the sky and then by the leap forward of science and technology in the twentieth century this rich heritage has ancient roots it was built by accumulating discoveries with errors observations with fantasies myths and superstitions with flashes of genius over a span of millennia since homo sapiens turning his eyes to the

immutable and perfect sky began to ask questions the book is a narration of the answers to these questions that had evolved over time a progressive path inserted in the general history with some second thoughts and many obstacles this is a saga of men and machines where greatness sometimes mixes with misery and passion often borders on sacrifice and even martyrdom why should we know it because our current knowledge is the result of these efforts and of the preconceptions that accompanied them the challenge has been to present this complex and intricate subject without resorting to any formulas so that it can be accessible to a wide audience of curious people including high school and university students and in general all those who normally keep themselves informed of scientific things a rich bibliography has also been added in the appendix for those wishing to learn more on one or more topics
